

RIF Logistics

"It's great working with Global QA, we managed to achieve and retain a Double A rating for the standard, we were aiming to get, and got certification at the top level".

Dominic Bacon, Managing Director RIF Logistics.

Company Profile

RIF Logistics is a part of the RIF Group, which is a well-known company around the globe. RIF logistics currently owns multiple warehouses in the UK and the Netherlands. These warehouses are run under strict and specialised customs, in order to keep up with the everchanging policies and demands. RIF logistics prides itself in their exceptional service; this could be the reason, they have seen major success in terms of the clients they have attracted. The company has also taken proactive steps, to ensure all clients see no disruption to their logistic service post-Brexit.

Company Missions

- Achieving operational financial needs, through better offers, that are faster and more cost efficient.
- Choice is vital.
- Innovative Solutions tailored to giving market edge solutions.

Project Brief

RIF logistics works with some major companies such as Primark, John Lewis, Amazon, Holland & Barrett, Christian Dior, and Harrods. In order to work with these high-end clients, RIF Logistics is required to obtain high level certification, that is recognised worldwide; which is why they decided to work with Global QA.

All certifications and solutions offered by Global QA are up to date, and ensure that companies feel confident in moving forward, and giving them full reinforcement that they can meet their clients' needs and standards.

Achieving this standard at the highest grade possible, allowed RIF logistics to expand their business and take on bigger clients; which in the past might have been unthinkable.

Global QA's Solutions & Implementation

Global QA has been working with RIF logistics since 2017, helping assess and implement all certificates to former BRC and current BRCGS Global Standards. Our very own BRCGS global standards implementation and maintenance expert Alex Haynes works closely with RIF logistics to create a process that will support the company in their operations whilst using his expert knowledge of market practices to make the business as efficient as possible whilst maintaining food safety at all stages. In the four years working with RIF logistics, Alex has managed to achieve the highest grade possible (AA) every single year.

The reason Global QA has seen this success is due to the way we work; all our employees are market leading consultants with the required experience and knowledge to successfully implement and achieve the highest grade possible.

We as a company work closely alongside the client and work out what works best for them. No process is the same and we ensure all our plans offered are bespoke to the client.

The whole process starting at a no obligation quote to receiving the full certification and double A grade was achieved in just 9 months.

Subsequent Benefits of Certification.

Achieving a BRCGS certificate in storage and distribution with the grade AA assures companies, that you as a company are well informed about the policies regarding product storage and safety. This certificate shows that you will store products in a legal manner according and the products will be protected against illegal activities such as theft.

These are the benefits of having a certificate in storage and distribution, now the benefits of working with Global QA are endless, we can assure you that;

- You will be working with market leading professionals; our very own Alex Haynes was nominated by BRCGS Europe for consultant of the year.
- We have a fixed consultancy fee as quoted, with a guarantee of success.
- A bespoke plan for your business needs.
- 24/7 support available.
